WHAT'S IT

going to take

For the past 40 years, the YWAM (Youth with a Mission) Fleet has been sailing in partnership with other vessels to some of the most remote places on Earth.

When Jesus commissioned us, He said to go into all the world, to every nation. That is why we want to go to every island and every person until all have heard. There are still many islands in the Pacific that need a strategy that will allow them to be served with healthcare, education, and the Gospel of Jesus.

We're looking at the task that's ahead of us, and we ask ourselves:

What is it going to take?

why yachts

Even though the global YWAM Fleet has grown to 27 vessels, it is not enough to reach EVERY isolated island.

If we really do believe that the Great Commission is for everyone (Mark 16:15), not just the large cities or easy-to-reach places, then the distant islands need a solution. They need a strategy that will actually make a difference.

This is why we started a YWAM Flotilla movement.

what if

Brett Curtis

“One day, on my morning walk, I was reminded of flying over cities and seeing marinas full of yachts—most of them unused for months on end. What if, instead of boats sitting still, owners would be willing to tithesome of their yacht’s time?”

A fleet of ships properly positioned would allow us to reach a larger number of islands efficiently.”

What if that is where you come in?
